9. Your rights

Under the GDPR you have the following rights:

- The right to be informed and right of access (article 13,14 and 15 GDPR);
You may access your personal data and make any necessary changes in your account. If you would like to see which personal data Packhunt has obtained about you, you may exercise your right of access by submitting a request to Packhunt by contacting us through privacy@packhunt.io.
- The right to rectification (article 16 GDPR);
If you wish to make changes in your personal information that you have seen as a result of a request for access and you are unable to make the changes yourself in your account, you may request that Packhunt make these changes for you. You may request that Packhunt modifies, corrects, supplements, erases or shields your information.
- The right to erasure ('right to be forgotten') (article 17 GDPR);
You can request Packhunt to delete the personal data. It is possible to request this if:
 - The processing is no longer necessary for achieving the purpose;
 - The purpose of the processing is based on your consent and you withdraw this consent;
 - If you make well-founded objections to the processing;
 - If there is no legal basis for processing.
- The right to restrict processing (article 18 GDPR);
In case you suspect that Packhunt uses your personal data unlawfully, you can restrict the processing.
- The right to data portability (article 20 GDPR);
In case the processing of personal data is based on your consent or the necessity for the performance of the agreement, you have the right to obtain your personal data. Packhunt will provide this in a structured and standard format. In this manner you can transfer your data to another processor.
- The right to object (article 21 GDPR);
In case you have any objection against the processing of the personal data, you have the right to object against the processing. You can send your request to exercise the rights to privacy@packhunt.io. Packhunt will respond within one week. In case of any legally complicated requests, Packhunt is entitled to extend this period of time with two months and will inform you about this together with an estimation of time in which Packhunt can comply with the request. In case of complaints regarding unlawful processing of personal data, you have the right to contact the national data protection authority. In The Netherlands, this is the Autoriteit Persoonsgegevens.
